

Ecofish Welcomes Autumn Cousins to the Team

Ecofish is thrilled to announce the latest addition to our leadership team, Autumn Cousins.

Autumn is known to many in the province as the former Director of Compliance and Enforcement (C&E) at the BC Environmental Assessment Office (EAO). She joins the Ecofish team as Lead, Regulatory Strategy & Environmental Compliance. Autumn is well respected by her public sector peers and by private sector proponents for always being solutions-oriented. She helps clients meet their project needs while respecting social and cultural values and promoting environmental compliance. Her extensive networks in government, industry and Indigenous groups, team building capacity, client knowledge, experience in environmental assessment (EA) and consultation, expertise in C & E, interpersonal skills, contagious energy and strong work ethic will complement and expand Ecofish's service offerings.

“We are focused on attracting top environmental professionals in order to continue providing the best solutions for our clients,” says Adam Lewis, President. “This new addition to our leadership team will help Ecofish deliver the best in environmental assessment, monitoring, mitigation, offsetting and design.”

Welcome to the team Autumn!
